Orangutech Receives ISO 27001 Certification

Ottawa, ON – Orangutech has received their ISO 27001 Certification from the International Organization for Standardization and the International Electrotechnical Commission. This certification recognizes Orangutech’s establishment, implementation, maintenance, and continual improvement of information security management systems.

“For a company like Orangutech, information security management systems are of vital importance.” said Lachlan Henderson, General Manager of Orangutech. “This certification will ensure our ability to continue safeguarding our clients’ information, and work securely with new clients moving forward.”

The rigorous process to achieve this certification signifies the importance of managing internal and external information within their systems, and will continue to be of importance for Orangutech moving forward.
